

Okanagan Orchards 2022

Exploring Connection & Disconnection through a Compassionate Lens

Workshop Format • Small Group Activities • Prizes

Date: Fri, May 27, 2022

Time: 1300-1630

Place: via Zoom

*A raven drops a chestnut into the middle of the afternoon,
flies back to the lamp-post,
waits for the lights to change.
I am down to the last two patients of the day.*

~ Excerpt from Antidote II by
Dr. Karen Shklanka, UBC
Family Physician & Poet

Welcome Team! We're excited to announce that a date and registration link are set for our virtual Okanagan Orchards 2022. This event is open to all preceptors and faculty from across our plentiful province as well as our site coordinators and resident leads.

This year we're focused on exploring connection and disconnection as it relates to medical education and our learning dynamics. We've outlined our learning intentions below:

Our Learning Intentions

- Actively explore the themes including connection and disconnection in relation to Teaching Excellence, Interprofessional Collaboration & Teamwork; and Health & Wellbeing.
- Participate in activities that encourage reflection on our learning journey and help us translate our understanding of connection in relation to how we learn, teach, and work with others.
- Develop, design, & articulate a series of action items that are aimed at nurturing greater connection within the self, the profession, and the teaching dynamic between learner/educator and educator/administration.

Event Day Agenda

- Greeting & Faculty Development Director Welcome Address
- Activity: Human Being, Human Doing
- Break
- Activity: Exploring Disconnection in Practice
- Break
- Resident Panel: Connection & Disconnection within the Learning Journey
- Activity: Designing Action Items
- Summarization of the Day: Creating Connection
- Closing Remarks

Contact Information

Please let us know if you have any questions.

Larissa McLean, BA, MHA
Manager, Rural Education & Initiatives
UBC Department of Family Practice, Postgraduate Program
larissa.mclean@ubc.ca
